

There are many words that you can use to avoid repeating happy too often in your writing. The lists below show some synonyms that you might choose to use instead to add more variety to your speech or writing.

joyful

---

cheerful
delighted
ecstatic
elated
euphoric

glad gleeful
jolly
merry
overjoyed

pleased
rapturous
thrilled

contented

---

carefree
comfortable
content
in a good mood

light-hearted
relaxed
satisfied
unconcerned

untroubled
unworried

lucky

---

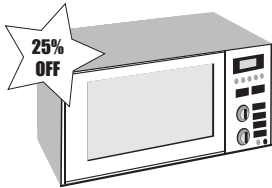

advantageous
convenient

favourable
felicitous

fortunate
opportune

Instead of repeating happy in the following passage, you might use some of the synonyms discussed opposite.

Ultrazap®

satisfied

Are you ~~happy~~ with your microwave? Does it heat your food the way it should?

pleased

At Ultrazap® we are ~~happy~~ to announce that over 90% of our customers have said that they are ~~happy~~ delighted with our new deluxe model. New technology means that it heats your food even faster. You can relax, ~~happy~~ content in the knowledge that your food will be piping hot within minutes.

fortunate

By a ~~happy~~ coincidence, this month is our anniversary. To celebrate, the price of the deluxe model will be cut by 25%. All new customers will be entered for a draw – some lucky person will be ~~happy~~ thrilled to win a holiday in the sun.